Overview of Planning Development Review Process

Notes: This is a simplified, graphical representation of the development review process for illustrative purposes only, and is not meant to be comprehensive or representative of any individual project. Durations given are estimates, and the duration of the review process for a project is influenced by the quality of plans submitted, the applicant's responsiveness, and the complexity of the project, among other factors. The City of Orange does not have control over other regulatory agencies that affect the review process, including: Caltrans, OC Health Care Agency, California Department of Alcohol Beverage Control...etc.
